5. PRESENTATION OF THE HOD ON PROGRESS OF ON LINE CLASSES

Department Heads provided updates on the status of online classes amidst the challenges posed by the devastating second wave of the Covid-19 pandemic. Despite these hurdles, academic progress has been sustained through the dedication of faculty members. To supplement online learning, faculties are providing lecture notes to students, ensuring continuity in educational delivery. Additionally, some departments have planned extra classes to address student doubts and facilitate a deeper understanding of course materials. This proactive approach demonstrates the commitment of departments to supporting students' academic needs during these trying times. By adapting teaching methods and providing additional resources, the university aims to mitigate the impact of the pandemic on students' learning experiences, fostering resilience and academic growth despite the ongoing challenges posed by the Covid-19 crisis.

8. ADVICE OF VICE CHANCELLOR ON THE COVID -19 SECOND WAVE

The resurgence of the Covid-19 pandemic's second wave has inflicted severe devastation, leading to the suffering and loss of lives among citizens of the country. Recognizing the gravity of the situation, the University adheres closely to the guidelines provided by the Government and the UGC, which are updated periodically. Faculty members are urged to strictly adhere to these guidelines and ensure the continuity of academic activities through online classes. Moreover, in light of the challenges posed by the pandemic, faculty members are encouraged to conduct extra classes aimed at addressing students' doubts comprehensively. Additionally, it is emphasized that maintaining regular communication with students is paramount during these trying times. Faculty members are advised to provide continual support and motivation to students, fostering a sense of encouragement and solidarity amid the difficulties brought about by the pandemic. By upholding these directives and providing unwavering support to students, the University endeavors to navigate through the challenges posed by the pandemic while ensuring the continuity of education and the well-being of its academic community.
